THE HILL: Dems hail health law's benefits for seniors

Democrats say Republicans will suffer a backlash if they continue to push for repeal because more and more people are benefiting from specific provisions of the law, such as seniors who can now access preventive care without co-pays or deductibles.

"I think as time goes by more and more people are beginning to support the reform because it starts to apply to them," said Democratic Caucus Vice-Chairman Xavier Becerra (D-Calif.).

"The more people see what the ACA does, the more they're going to like it."
