

Today, the Department of Health and Human Services launched HealthCare.gov, a new website for consumers like us to take control of our health care by connecting us with information and resources that will help us access quality, affordable health care coverage.

The new HealthCare.gov website includes:

- Easy to understand information on consumers' rights (existing and new), how to navigate the insurance marketplace, and benefits of the Affordable Care Act
- A new online tool to help consumers find the coverage we need from more than 1,000 private carriers and 5,000 insurance plans
- Information on Pre-Existing Condition Plans, Medicaid, Children's Health Insurance Program, and operational high risk pool programs in the country
