

Your Last Chance to Be Counted!

If you don't count yourself by 6pm today, you won't count for the next decade. If you did not return your census form or speak to a census worker—or your living circumstances have changed since then—today, July 30, marks the final day that you can be counted in the 2010 Census.

To make sure you are counted, call the United States Census at 1-866-872-6868, toll free.

A full count in your neighborhood means better schools for our children, more firefighters and police officers to protect our communities, and funding to help repair our roads. Remember, for every 100 people not counted in your community, your local schools, police and firefighters lose over 1 million in federal funds over the next decade.
